

Mobile developer

Frost is expanding. We are looking for a positive and creative developer with focus on mobile platforms. You should be into iOS or Android or both - we embrace generalists.

Preferably you have a couple of years of professional experience and a track record of several mobile projects. However, if you have talent but not yet gotten the opportunity to shine, we are still interested in getting in touch.

The job is flexible and varied. Most of the work is done inhouse in a Frost team. At times you will work as a consultant at the clients office.

Apply for the job. Send a mail to hello@frostdigital.se if you want to develop as a person, have fun and work in an open, creative environment.

Frost is a digital agency based in Stockholm, Sweden. We take on inhouse-projects, offer consulting services and build our own products.

Our office is located on Kungsholmen in a modern, newly renovated building.
